

I4CE receives support from a range of public and private funders, supporting specific projects, areas of work, or contributing to core funding. Our project based funding comes from French, European, or international public research grants, as well as from philanthropic foundations. Private companies contribute through unrestricted funding. The Caisse des Dépôts et Consignations is the main contributor to core funding.

MISSION

I4CE is a non-profit research organisation that provides independent policy analysis on climate change mitigation and adaptation. We promote climate policies that are effective, efficient and socially-fair.

Our 40 experts engage with national and local governments, the European Union, international financial institutions, civil society organizations and the media.

IMPACT

I4CE contributes to climate policy debates through its innovative expertise. We engage with public decision-makers to answer the questions they are asking and those they have not yet asked.

Through our work, such as the annual Landscape of climate investments in France, Europe and local authorities, and the transition financing plans dashboard, we continue to inform public debate and influence decision-making at all levels.

MODES OF ACTION:

- Analyse the public policies for the climate transition.
- Assess costs, financing needs and public policy options.
- Meet with decision makers and strengthen the collective expertise.
- Promote our reports, recommendations and activities through our various communication channels.
